

WEEKLY PRESCHOOL PROGRAM AT ST. JOHNS PUBLIC LIBRARY

On November 4th, 15 children and 7 moms attended the St. Johns Public Library Preschool Story Time. This was a great turn out for the first of a weekly story time to be held on Wednesdays from 11:00 to noon. The children got to make a scarecrow and participated in physical activities like turning around, touching the ground, reaching up high, touching the sky, bending down low, and touching their toe. They also eagerly listened to librarian Carolyn Des Champs read Duck! Rabbit! by author Amy Krouse Rosenthal and The Crayon Box That Talked by Shane DeRolf. A good time was had by all.

Preschool children and their parents are invited to attend and participate in the weekly stories, activities, and crafts. The books chosen each week are ones that inspire children to chime in or to become involved by doing the suggested actions. This is not a sit-in-your-seat-and-be-quiet kind of story time, but an interactive time encouraging a love of books and reading.

Upcoming story times will include a Thanksgiving theme and a Christmas theme. This is a year-round program, so look forward to all seasons and holidays being explored and shared throughout the year.

If you are interested in volunteering to help with story time or just need more information, please contact Carolyn Des Champs at the St. Johns Public Library at 928-337-4405.
